The Department of Electrical Engineering at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level. We seek outstanding applicants with appropriate expertise, established records, and exceptional potential for research in the area of Bioelectronics. Our focus is for candidates with expertise in brain machine interfaces, devices that manipulate and record neuronal activity and development, neural prosthesis, functional brain imaging, bioelectronics, biosensors, analog and mixed-mode circuit design, implantable devices and flexible electronics. The successful candidate will be expected to enhance our excellence in research and strengthen our strong commitment to teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. UCSC is the home of many research centers and programs including the W.M. Keck Center For Adaptive Optical Microscopy (http://cfaom.soe.ucsc.edu), the W. M. Keck Center For Nanoscale Optofluidics (http://cfno.soe.ucsc.edu) and the Biomedical Research program (http://biomedical.ucsc.edu).

The successful candidate will be expected to maintain an active research program, obtain external funding, teach courses that contribute to the Electrical Engineering Department undergraduate and graduate curriculum, mentor and advise students at the graduate and undergraduate level, and perform University and professional service. The candidate must be able to work with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds. We are especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through their teaching, research, and/or service.
